

The Fabulous Adventures of

Fa Bell

My adventure started off when I arrived in South Jordan, Utah where I met the Morgan family. The day I arrived, I got to go to school with Amber and attended the 4th grade. It was a lot of fun!

Day 2 it snowed and I built my very first snowman. I think I did an awesome job. Utah ROCKS! In other words there are a LOT of ROCKS here. FYI - We are surrounded by mountains. They are part of the "Rocky Mountains.")

Later that day we went to the library where I got to read my favorite book, "Tangled."

Because I came to visit, the Morgan family planned a fabulous trip across the U.S.A. We went to the post office to put the Morgan's mail on hold. Thank goodness I arrived before the Morgan's did this. I sure wouldn't want to be stuck at the post office for a couple weeks.

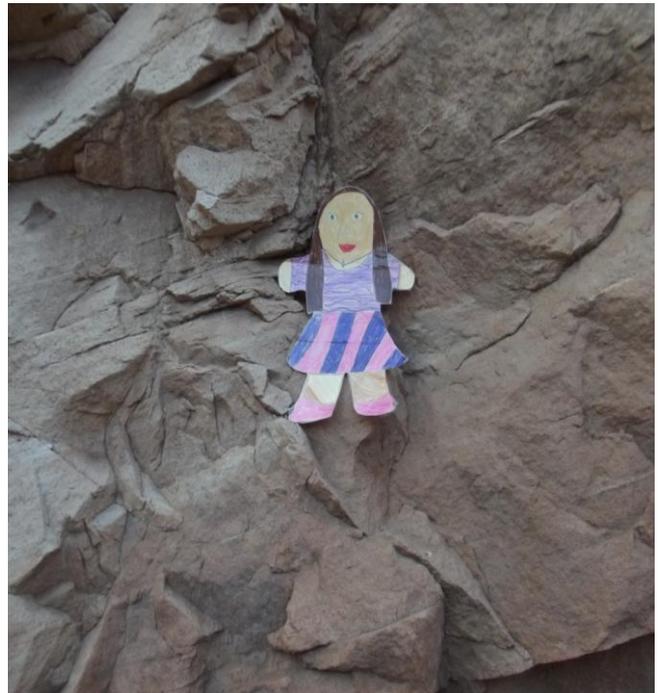

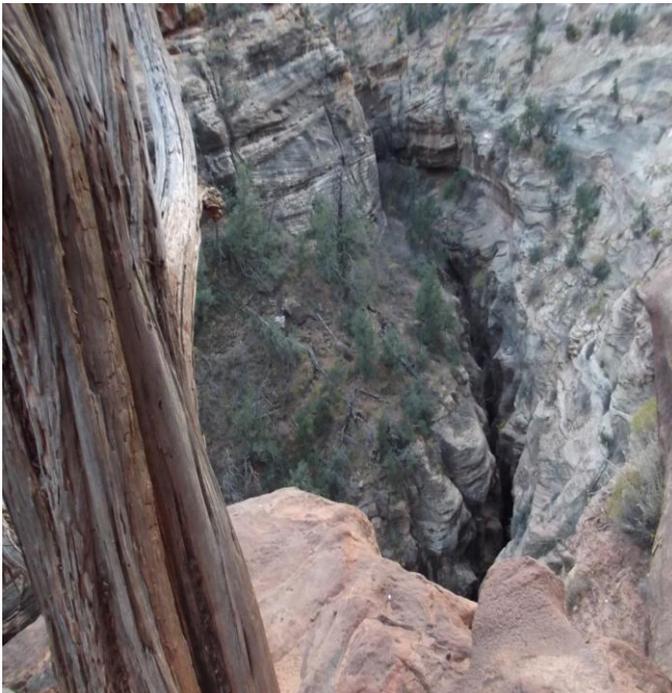

Our trip began by driving south. We stopped in Zion's National Park in Southern Utah and decided to go hiking. It was a steep climb. The stairs up the mountain were made out of rocks.

Utah is very beautiful.

I am up so high. I hope I don't fall.

Oh NO!!!!!!!!!! HELP!!!!!!!!!! I've fallen and I can't get up! My head hurts☹

No more rock climbing for me. At least I'm made out of paper. I'll get a band-aid soon.

Now we are on our way again. We went through a tunnel and then drove into Arizona. It is very hot and dry in Arizona. We passed by the Grand Canyon, but didn't stop. Who keeps putting bunny ears on me in the picture? Oh well.

Next we drove through New Mexico and Texas. New Mexico had brightly colored bridges. They looked great. Texas had windmills. We continued until we arrived in Oklahoma where we stayed for a couple days. I got my band-aid😊

In Oklahoma, I climbed a tree, played in a bird bath, and found a swing made out of a hanging pot.
It was perfect for me.

After a nice visit in Oklahoma we traveled through Arkansas.

It wasn't as uneventful as I thought Arkansas would be. Our car broke down majorly.

While I was waiting at the car place, I built a Lego tower with a two headed monster.

Finally the car was fixed and we finished our drive through Tennessee, Virginia, and then stopped at a relative's house in West Virginia. I got to go to the movie theatre in West Virginia. (Who's doing bunny rabbit ears again?)

Thanksgiving Day had finally arrived and we ate a fabulous meal. I was reunited with Deborah and finished my trip driving back to Massachusetts through West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, and Connecticut. What a FABULOUS adventure!!!
